As a member of Worden Farm, you also help to protect the environment, preserve open space, foster alternative energy agriculture projects, support family farming, promote training of future organic farmers and gardeners, and create a strong local economy and community.

Membership benefits include:

- a guaranteed harvest share of fresh, local, organic produce, every week, all season long
- a weekly farm newsletter with recipes, ideas, updates & photos
- free farm tours in the season
- discounts on farm workshops

Fresh, local, organic produce helps you, our community, and the environment.

About Worden Farm

Worden Farm is a 55-acre certified organic family farm, raising crops for hundreds of local families in the Southwest Florida community. The farm is owned and operated by husband and wife team Chris and Eva Worden, Ph.D.s in plant science and ecosystem management.

The USDA-certified organic crops of Worden Farm are grown without any conventional pesticides, synthetic fertilizers, or genetically-engineered seeds. Ecological techniques are used to conserve resources and protect soil and water resources, wildlife, and human health. Worden Farm is certified organic by Quality Certification Services, an independent, USDA-authorized organic certification agency.

Worden Farm is dedicated to:

- producing organic foods of the highest quality
- cultivating community connection to the farm
- promoting the viability of the family farm through stewardship & innovation

Share the Harvest!

Members of Worden Farm eat fresh, local, organic produce all season long

"We have been totally pleased with our box each week. The variety and condition of the vegetables have been first rate. The taste can't be beat, and your recipes are so well chosen and practical."

Our incomparably fresh produce is an excellent value, with superior flavor, nutrition & longevity.

Harvest Shares

Worden Farm members receive a harvest share each week, in season. Harvest shares consist of a balanced array of 8 or more different produce items, including salad greens, cooking greens, root crops, fruiting vegetables, culinary herbs, and occasional fruit crops and cut flowers.

A harvest share comfortably fulfills the weekly produce needs of 2 people who like to eat plenty of vegetables. Households can enroll for more than one share, or shares can be split between 2 or more families.

The harvests vary, with the time of the season. One week's share might contain: a head of lettuce, a bunch of kale, a bunch of carrots, 2 tomatoes, a quart of potatoes, 2 squash, 4 oranges, a quart of green beans, a head of broccoli, and a bunch of parsley.

Most all of the produce is grown at Worden Farm. On occasion, for more variety, we include local organic or sustainable produce from neighboring farmer friends.

We look forward to growing great produce for you!

Membership Options

Worden Farm members receive a weekly harvest share for 20 weeks, from the first week of December to the middle of April. Pick up your produce either at a delivery site, or at the farm.

Market-style harvest share

This option offers flexibility of choice each week. You choose your produce from an assortment displayed market-style, for members only, at Worden Farm in Punta Gorda. You also get frequent bonus pick-your-own crops, like cherry tomatoes.

Boxed delivered harvest share

Your produce arrives in a waxed veggie box, with the farm's best harvest each week. Choose the delivery site most convenient for you. Each week, just go to your site at the pick-up time, check your name off the list, grab your box, and go.

Membership Fees

Membership fee is $600 for the season.

Delivery fee for boxed harvest shares at off-farm sites is $60 for the season.

There is no member work requirement, and there are no additional membership fees or commitments.

Institutional memberships are available for restaurants and other food service businesses. Please call the farm for details.

The $150 deposit is entirely non-refundable.

Any refund of membership payments beyond the deposit will incur an administrative fee of $50, and are entirely non-refundable after October 1.
